

2-Week Social Media Content Calendar

Sample strategy — Bakes and Bites, Nairobi

Prepared by Mecky as a self-initiated sample to demonstrate content strategy for a local food business. Not a commissioned client engagement — the business name is illustrative.

Strategy Summary

Bakes and Bites has a loyal walk-in customer base in its neighbourhood but almost no digital presence. The goal for these two weeks is to establish consistent posting, showcase the product in a way that drives foot traffic and WhatsApp orders, and build the habit of customers tagging the bakery in their own posts.

- Platforms: Instagram (primary), Facebook (cross-post), WhatsApp Status (daily specials)
- Cadence: 5 posts/week on Instagram, daily WhatsApp Status updates
- Content mix: 40% product, 25% behind-the-scenes, 20% customer/community, 15% offers
- Primary CTA: "Order via WhatsApp" — link in bio + sticker on every Story
- Success signal: saved posts, Story reply rate, and WhatsApp order mentions of "saw it on Instagram"

Notes for Implementation

This calendar is a starting structure, not a fixed script — captions should be adjusted to match real photos, real specials, and the bakery's actual voice once implemented. The underlying cadence (5x/week IG, daily WhatsApp Status) is designed to be sustainable for a single social media manager without a large content budget.
