

Local SEO Audit

Sample strategy — Bakes and Bites, Nairobi

Prepared by Mecky as a self-initiated sample to demonstrate a local SEO audit approach. Not a commissioned client engagement — the business name is illustrative.

Executive Summary

Bakes and Bites relies almost entirely on walk-in traffic and word of mouth. A search for "bakery near me" or "bakery Uthiru, Nairobi" currently surfaces competitors first because the business has no claimed Google Business Profile, no consistent name/address listing across platforms, and no keyword-targeted content. The fixes below are ordered by effort vs. impact, so the highest-return actions come first.

Findings

Google Business Profile ~~Not claimed~~

The business does not appear on Google Maps or in local search results. This is the single biggest gap — most local food searches happen on Maps before anywhere else.

NAP consistency ~~Not applicable — no listings~~

Name, Address, and Phone number are not listed anywhere online, so there's nothing yet for Google to match against social profiles once GBP is created.

Local keywords ~~Untargeted~~

No content targets phrases like "fresh bread kinoo" or "custom cakes Nairobi" — high-intent local searches with low competition for a business this size.

Reviews ~~None collected~~

Zero online reviews. Review count and recency are a direct ranking factor for local search and the first thing a new customer checks before visiting.

Website / landing page ~~None~~

No website or even a simple landing page exists to anchor a Google Business Profile link or collect direct orders outside WhatsApp.

Priority Fixes

Priority	Action	Why it matters	Effort
1	Claim & complete Google Business Profile — hours, photos, menu, category "Bakery"	Unlocks Maps visibility and the local 3-pack for free	Low
2	Ask 10 regular customers for a Google review this week	Reviews are a top-3 local ranking factor and build trust instantly	Low

Priority	Action	Why it matters	Effort
3	Create a one-page website with the bakery's name, location, hours, and WhatsApp link	Gives Google Business Profile a website to point to and improves credibility	Medium
4	Use neighbourhood + product keywords in social captions and the GBP description	Matches how customers actually search ("cakes in [area]")	Low
5	List the business on Facebook and a local directory with identical name/address/phone	Consistency across listings reinforces Google's confidence in the business location	Medium

Next Steps

Items 1 and 2 can be done in a single afternoon and would likely produce the first visible change in local search ranking within 2-3 weeks. Items 3-5 build the foundation for sustained visibility as the business grows its online presence alongside its social media activity.
